MUSIC Lovers

St. Albert Amplify Festival

Music lovers will find all they could wish for in St. Albert, especially if you're visiting in the summer.

Bring a lawn chair or a blanket and pick out your spot on Mission Hill for St. Albert's very own Seven Music Fest. The natural grassy amphitheatre is the perfect setting for dancing and singing along with amazing Canadian talent.

If old-time rock 'n roll is more your thing, don't miss Rock'n August. The annual Friday night street dance is always a blast.

Throughout the rest of the year, check out nationally acclaimed artists performing at The Arden Theatre. Whether you are looking for that up and coming band that has yet to be discovered, or some great local tunes and covers, the live music scene in St. Albert will have something worth listening to.

THEATRE Goers

The Arden Theatre – The McDades

The glory of active storytelling can be experienced through various venues and companies in St. Albert. The Arden Theatre hosts many artists throughout the year, ranging from the young talent of the St. Albert Children's Theatre to seasoned performers and musicians from across the country and around the world. The 509 seat space provides an intimate theatre experience, with not a bad seat in the house. For a change of pace, check out a local dinner theatre at the Kinsmen Club presented by the St. Albert Theatre Troupe. Productions run year-round and offer a great experience for friends, family and children.

ART Enthusiasts

Art in Public Places – Butterfly Kaleidoscope

A fun activity in any season is exploring the city to check out the over 30 pieces of public art. Be ready to take lots of photos and share your experiences with #visitstalbert.

Start in the downtown and get a feel for what St. Albert is all about. St. Albert's Métis heritage is evident in many of the pieces, with a favourite being "Buffalo Hunt", by Don and Shirley Begg. This sculptural piece depicts how extremely important buffalo were to our Métis community, not only for the food and hides but also the family interaction that occurred along with the hunt.

Barbara Peterson's "Legacy of Love and Learning" out front of St. Albert Place commemorates former St. Albert resident Lois Hole. She was famous for her passion for gardening, health and lifelong learning. As you explore the murals, sculptures and interactive pieces, they will all give you an insider's view of what made St. Albert the city it is today.

View and plan your art discovery using the online interactive map of Public Art. Go to stalbert.ca/getting-around/maps/art-in-public-places-map or download the app for iPhone.

HISTORY Bufs

Musée Héritage Museum

As the oldest non-fortified city in Alberta, stepping back in time is a pleasure in St. Albert.

In 1861, Father Lacombe developed the St. Albert Mission on prime agricultural land along the trade route from Fort Edmonton to the key fur trading regions. Step into Father Lacombe's original log chapel, the oldest surviving wooden structure in Alberta. This humble chapel even became one of the original cathedrals in the Canadian North West Territories.

Nearby is the very European Grotto. This relic is a replica of the shrine in Lourdes, France, and was originally built in 1920 with stone right from the Sturgeon riverbank and surrounding fields.

NATURAL ADVENTURES

Lace up your sneakers, charge up your camera and get outside. Smell the roses, be amazed by peregrine falcons or cozy up by a fire while creating St. Albert memories.

Sturgeon River

NATURE Lovers

Lacombe Lake Park

If you're someone that loves being outside, St. Albert has lots to offer. Head out early in the morning to Lois Hole Centennial Provincial Park (Big Lake) to see why it is one of the most important wildlife areas in Alberta. The lake and wetlands attract more than 220 bird species including trumpeter swans, spragues, pipits, peregrine falcons, short-eared owls and bald eagles. The John E. Poole Interpretive Boardwalk at Big Lake includes trails, boardwalks, a picnic area and interpretive signage to help you understand the unique ecosystem.

After all that wildlife watching, you'll want to head over to the St. Albert Botanic Park next. Enjoy your snack as your stroll through this five-acre garden along the banks of the Sturgeon River. The Botanic Park is home to a beautiful display of Zone 2 and 3 plants and trees including Alberta's largest public rose garden – over 210 varieties. Make sure your camera is fully charged or there is room on your phone for all the pictures you'll want to take.

GREEN Thumbs

St. Albert Botanic Park

As the Botanical Arts City, no visit to St. Albert is complete without a visit to our garden gems. Start your day off at the St. Albert Botanic Park and be filled with inspiration for your own yard. This five-acre garden is located along the banks of the Sturgeon River and is a floral paradise featuring roses, lilacs, daylilies, Asiatic lilies, peonies as well as annual flowers and vegetables. Don't forget your camera and be sure to check out the gift shop for a unique treasure for your home or garden.

After all this walking, you will need to recharge. Pop into the nearby Shops at Boudreau where you will find several great restaurants, many with summer patios to enjoy a beautiful day outside.

To wrap up your garden themed day, visit the Enjoy Centre. The Enjoy Centre is a unique multi-use facility featuring a restaurant, bakery, deli and whole foods market, kitchen and décor boutique, liquor store, floral studio and greenhouse. Greenhouse tours are available if you book in advance.

OUTDOOR Enthusiast Summer

Red Willow Trail Corridor

Cycling through St. Albert is one of the best ways to take in the beautiful parks, gardens and public art. For an easy 11 km ride, strap on your helmet and start at Kingswood Park on the east end of the city; as you travel west you will come to the St. Albert Botanic Park, a stunning five-acre park filled with lilacs, roses and lilies. It's definitely worth a quick stop. Continuing on westward along the river you ride into the heart of downtown St. Albert, the Perron District. Named after one of St. Albert's founding businessmen, the Perron District is home to many great restaurants and one of a kind shops. Perfect if you need to stop for some refreshment before carrying on.

Back on the trail you will pass St. Albert Place and some impressive aboriginal-themed granite sculptures by artist Stewart Steinhauer. Passing under the iconic Trestle Bridge you will end your ride at Big Lake. This is an opportunity to stretch your legs and marvel at one of Alberta's premier wetlands. Big Lake is recognized as a globally significant Important Bird Area for its abundant and diverse bird populations, especially waterfowl and shorebirds. It's a perfect place to rest and reflect before you head back.
