Insp. Aaron White
Officer In Charge
St. Albert, Alberta

Dear Mayor, Council, and Policing Committee,

Please find attached the quarterly Community Policing Report for the period of January 1st to March 31st, 2026. This report provides an overview of human resources, financial information, and crime statistics for the St. Albert, and reflects the ongoing priorities identified by the community we serve.

In addition to the information contained in the attached report, I would also like to highlight a significant national development that will impact frontline policing operations in the coming months. The RCMP has recently awarded a contract for a new modernized general duty service pistol, marking an important step in enhancing public and officer safety, as well as operational effectiveness.

The selected model is the Glock 45 MOS 7 Duty Pistol. This modernized pistol will be issued as part of a comprehensive package, including a red dot sight (Aimpoint Acro P-2), a weapon-mounted light (Streamlight TLR-7X), three magazines, interchangeable grip components, a lanyard loop attachment, a Safariland duty holster, and a secure carrying case.

The rollout will occur in phases with priority given to frontline officers. Distribution across RCMP divisions will be based on operational needs, and full deployment is anticipated by summer 2028.

A transition of this scale requires comprehensive training to ensure safe and effective use. A training program has been developed and will begin rolling out to instructors this summer. A mandatory four-day training program for frontline officers is expected to follow in late summer and fall, concluding with annual firearms qualification. Training schedules are being developed to ensure there is no impact to frontline service delivery levels.

This modernization effort reflects the RCMP's ongoing commitment to ensuring officers have the appropriate tools and training to serve their communities safely and effectively. Investments in equipment such as this are essential to maintaining high standards of policing and adapting to evolving operational demands.

We remain committed to transparency and to keeping our municipal partners informed of significant developments that impact policing services in your community. Should you have any questions or wish to discuss this initiative further, please do not hesitate to reach out.

Sincerely,

Insp. Aaron White
Officer In Charge
St. Albert Detachment

Community Priorities

Priority #1: Engage proactive initiatives to decrease crimes against persons & property.

Updates and Comments:

Over the past year, the detachment made significant progress toward its target of decreasing crimes against persons and property through a coordinated effort of proactive, intelligence-led initiatives. Central to this effort was a sustained focus on prolific offenders and their management, supported by close collaboration with Probation and Parole locally, regional partners, and specialized RCMP units. This approach enabled frequent monitoring of offender conditions, targeted curfew checks, and timely enforcement actions, while also driving successful operations such as shoplifting blitzes, bait vehicle deployments, and targeted investigations into organized theft and re-VIN activity. These efforts resulted in multiple arrests, the recovery of substantial amounts of stolen property, and the disruption of repeat offenders contributing to crime in the community. Complementing enforcement, proactive patrols and community engagement initiatives enhanced police visibility in high-risk areas, strengthened public trust, and supported crime prevention through education and outreach. At the same time, the expansion of confidential informant capacity significantly improved the detachment's intelligence-gathering capabilities, positioning units to better identify and respond to emerging crime trends. While some operational pressures impacted the ability to fully meet all intelligence-related financial targets, overall gains in source development and enforcement coordination contributed to a more informed and effective policing response. Collectively, these integrated efforts demonstrate a strong commitment to proactive policing and have contributed to measurable reductions in crime trends, improved offender accountability, and enhanced community safety.

Priority #2: Enhance response, outreach, and support for seniors, youth, other vulnerable

Updates and Comments:

Over the past year, the detachment advanced its commitment to reducing crimes against persons and property by strengthening community trust, enhancing cultural awareness, and expanding proactive engagement initiatives. Through increased training and exposure to diversity in the community, as well as a focus on mental health awareness and appropriate response strategies, members were better equipped to engage with diverse populations and respond to complex social issues. This was reinforced through a significant expansion of school-based programming, including a high volume of School Resource visits and the implementation of a new service delivery model that dramatically increased daily school engagement- carrying on into 2026 as we build back to full times school resources. Members also participated in key cultural and community events, including Indigenous Peoples Day, Pride events, and anti-hate initiatives, fostering stronger relationships with underrepresented groups.

Beyond schools, the detachment prioritized outreach to vulnerable populations, particularly seniors, through numerous fraud awareness presentations and ongoing engagement at care facilities and community centres. Broader community trust was further strengthened through consistent visibility and participation in local events, charitable initiatives, and partnerships with organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce, Citizens on Patrol, and Special Olympics. High-impact initiatives such as food bank drives, public safety campaigns, and large-scale events like the RCMP Expo and community festivals created meaningful opportunities for positive interaction and education.

Collectively, these efforts reflect a deliberate and sustained approach to community engagement—one that builds trust, improves public confidence in policing, and supports crime prevention through education, visibility, and strong community partnerships.

Priority #3: Traffic

Updates and Comments:

Over the past year, the detachment advanced road safety through a sustained and adaptive approach to proactive traffic enforcement, with a strong emphasis on visibility, engagement, and data-informed deployment. Enforcement activity remained consistently high throughout the year, with a steady increase in violations detected, culminating in a particularly strong fourth quarter driven by enhanced traffic visibility initiatives, improved staffing levels, and more accurate tracking practices. Checkstop operations were conducted regularly, with notable increases during high-risk periods such as the holiday season, contributing to impaired driving deterrence and overall public safety. While some quarterly targets were impacted by staffing pressures and tracking challenges, new reporting processes were implemented to improve accountability and measurement moving forward.

A significant focus was placed on school zone, playground, and construction zone safety, with frequent patrols and targeted operations designed to reduce risk to vulnerable road users. Enforcement efforts were flexibly adjusted to reflect seasonal realities, including school closures, summer traffic patterns, and weather-related impacts on driver behaviour. In addition to enforcement, the initiative emphasized visible policing and public interaction, reinforcing safe driving behaviours through presence and engagement.

Overall, the year demonstrated a strong commitment to proactive traffic safety, balancing enforcement with education and adaptability. These efforts contributed to increased compliance, heightened deterrence, and safer roadways within the community.

Priority #4: Domestic Violence

Updates and Comments:

Over the past year, the detachment took a coordinated and proactive approach to addressing ongoing and repetitive domestic, spousal, and gender-based violence through enhanced awareness, strengthened partnerships, and improved frontline response. Key efforts focused on advancing education and community engagement through active participation in the Domestic Violence Committee, which guided priorities such as human trafficking awareness, femicide prevention, and financial literacy as a means of reducing vulnerability. A multi-agency human trafficking workshop was successfully delivered, highlighting the intersection between exploitation and intimate partner violence, while ongoing discussions supported the development of longer-term advocacy and prevention strategies.

Internally, significant progress was made in equipping frontline members with the tools and knowledge needed to respond effectively to domestic violence occurrences. This included enhanced training on trauma-informed approaches, shelter access through centralized systems, legal authorities, and emerging risk factors such as strangulation, criminal harassment, and coercive control. Strong collaboration with victim support services and community organizations ensured members were consistently informed of available resources, enabling more effective safety planning and victim support.

Operationally, the detachment strengthened its response to high-risk individuals and repeat occurrences through regular case management with Victim Services, targeted interventions, and the use of legislative tools such as Clare's Law disclosures. Additional preventative efforts included the development of resource materials aimed at engaging individuals at risk of offending, with a focus on early intervention and behaviour change. Collectively, these efforts demonstrate a comprehensive and proactive strategy that enhances victim safety, supports offender accountability, and works toward reducing the cycle of repeat domestic violence within the community.

STAT TRENDS

We have to be incredibly careful about how we interpret stats, especially one offs where one category takes off during a quarter, sometimes the way files are scored or tracked can influence a category when we have low numbers already, skewing results one way or the other. We can however, look globally at the stats and get an idea of our health in the community.

Overall, the health of the community as reflected in these Q4 2026 policing results is relatively stable with some mixed but manageable pressures. Total Criminal Code incidents have remained essentially flat year-over-year, suggesting no significant overall escalation in crime. Crimes against persons show a rebound from 2025 low, particularly in robbery and assaults, though still generally within longer-term ranges, while some serious categories like sexual offences fluctuate but trend downward over time. Property crime, a priority, has decreased compared to last year, driven by reductions in theft under $5,000, mischief causing damage, and auto theft, though fraud continues to trend upward and remains a persistent concern which we are hopeful some structural and deployment changes this year will assist in taking that pressure off.. Other Criminal Code offences, especially breaches and failure to comply, have increased, pointing to ongoing challenges with repeat or high-risk individuals (which we have predicted and will continue to see rise). On the traffic and public safety side, injury collisions have risen, and enforcement activity has increased, while mental health-related calls and provincial statute activity remain steady. Encouragingly, indicators like spousal abuse reports and false alarms are trending downward- but, specifically with spousal abuse, we need to be cautious of how we interpret the trend. Taken together, the data suggests a community that remains safe overall, with policing demands shifting toward complexity—repeat offenders, compliance issues, fraud, and traffic safety. All of which are priorities for 2026 along with domestic violence.
