PROPER TREE PRUNING

Pruning is an essential component to keep your trees healthy and can help prolong their life spans if done properly. Pruning removes dead, diseased or undesirable limbs to produce strong, healthy, safe and attractive trees.

Need to prune? The Society to Prevent Dutch Elm Disease recommends hiring a professional arborist who is qualified and experienced in pruning. Arborists should be certified and belong to a professional organization such as the International Society of Arboriculture (ISA).

Remember: it's illegal to prune elms during the elm pruning ban, which runs April 1 to September 30.

For more information on pruning, certified ISA arborists and Dutch Elm Disease, visit stopded.org.
